

Claim Amendments

Claims 1-17 canceled

18. (new) A system for searching the World Wide Web for targeted Websites and for downloading document files from the targeted Websites to a user-terminal for searching and viewing designated text therein, said system comprising:

- (a) terminal server means for searching said targeted Websites, said targeted Websites having different formats;
- (b) user-terminal means to download said targeted Websites as document files to a user-terminal means, said document files having different formats;
- (c) means for converting text in said document files having different formats into duplicate Portable Document Format (PDF) text files;
- (d) said means for converting including means for converting said unconverted files into Rich Text Format prior to converting to PDF format;
- (e) said means for converting also including means for providing links between corresponding text in said unconverted files and said duplicate PDF text files;
- (f) search means for searching said duplicate PDF text files for finding designated text and for indicating a hit each time said designated text is found;

- (g) means to enable viewing of said duplicate PDF text files at each hit location where the designated text appears; and
- (h) user-initiated means employing said links to enable viewing of said unconverted downloaded document files at the same corresponding hit locations as found by said search means in said duplicate PDF text files.

19. (new) The system of claim 18 wherein said terminal server means includes:

Verity search engine means for targeting selected Websites on the Internet.

20. (new) The system of claim 18 which includes:
means for utilizing a "next hit" or "previous hit" button to view hit locations in said duplicate PDF text files.

21. (new) The system of claim 19 wherein said search means includes Adobe Acrobat program means for searching said PDF text files for generating a list of hit locations therein where said designated text is found.

22. (new) The system of claim 18, wherein said selected ones of said unconverted files include a Windows Help file and a HTML file.

23. (new) A method for searching and viewing selected differently formatted document files downloaded from the World Wide Web, comprising the steps of:

- (a) searching the World Wide Web for selected Websites
- (b) downloading said selected Websites as document files, said document files having different formats;
- (c) converting said downloaded documents files into duplicate PDF text files;
- (d) said converting including converting said unconverted files into Rich Text Format prior to converting to PDF format;
- (e) said converting also including providing links between corresponding text in said unconverted files and said duplicate PDF text files;
- (f) searching said duplicate PDF text files for designated text and for indicating a hit each time said designated text is found;
- (g) enabling viewing of said duplicate PDF text files at each hit location where said designated text is found; and
- (h) enabling viewing of said unconverted downloaded document files at the same corresponding hit locations as found by said searching of said duplicate PDF text files.

24. (new) The method of claim 16 wherein said searching of said duplicate PDF text files is performed using an Adobe Acrobat program.

25. (new) The method of claim 23, wherein said selected ones of said unconverted files include a Windows Help file and a HTML file.